

Minors' data in MyKanta

A doctor or other healthcare professional will assess whether a minor is able to make their own decisions about their medical care. The assessment is carried out separately on each visit to a healthcare unit and when writing prescriptions, and depends on factors such as the child's age, level of development, and the matter at hand.

If a professional assesses that the young person is capable of making their own decisions, the young person will be able to decide whether the details of their visit will be made visible to their guardian in MyKanta.

If a professional assesses that the young person is not capable of making their own decisions, the details of their visit will be visible to their guardian in MyKanta.

Young people can view their data in MyKanta if they have their own online banking credentials or a mobile certificate.

Guardians can use their own credentials when using MyKanta on behalf of a minor.
